Sail on Broome's Oldest Lugger INTOMBI 1903

This is your chance to experience INTOMBI, a rare piece of Western Australia's maritime history and one of only a handful of original wooden luggers still afloat today.

Your adventure starts in 1903...

...the year INTOMBI was built in Fremantle for Broome pearler, Penn Blick. INTOMBI is Zulu for 'young maiden'. She worked the rich waters off Broome, sailed by her Pearl Master and indentured Asian diver and crew, throughout Broome's pearling heyday. INTOMBI later became part of the legendary Streeter & Male fleet. Like a number of other early boats she was rebuilt to bigger dimensions on the Broome foreshore in 1929, illegally using indentured labour...
