personal moments, endless horizons

BROOME'S AWARD WINNING BOUTIQUE ESCAPE

High on the coast of Western Australia where the sparkling Indian Ocean laps on long white beaches is the remarkable town of Broome. What makes this place special is much more than the setting itself. Broome's rich pearling history has created a melting pot of international cultures over more than a century which imbues the town with an exotic flavour that is unique in Australia. Today, visitors have the opportunity to stay in one of the original Master Pearler's homes, McAlpine House. Built in 1910, McAlpine House is now an intimate and award winning boutique escape offering much more than historic authenticity in a lush, serene environment. Whatever your quest, our promise is memories - personal moments, endless horizons.

A sense of Broome's past lingers in this century-old former Master Pearler's home. It nurtures the feeling that at McAlpine House, the Kimberley experience is understood.

This award-winning boutique escape blends a sense of space with a feel of intimacy and an atmosphere of elegant serenity.

Named one of the most romantic retreats in Australia, McAlpine House has just eight guest rooms – each with its own style and private outdoor escape.

You can also find an intimate nook under the canopy of mango and tamarind trees, on the latticed verandahs or by the swimming pool.

Here, there's space to escape with your thoughts. And, also a place to share them – the breakfast table is a morning ritual of intriguing company and exchanged Kimberley experiences.

Dinner is usually a more intimate, al fresco affair under the light of the Kimberley moon.
